Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" free any more than a merchant can lose over his counter free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

GETS A BLACK EYE!

Judge Cox Deals the Civil Service Law a Body-Blow!

WILL HAVE TO BE A NEW DEAL.

Judge Cox of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia dismissed the bill of complaint of John G. Wood, Superintendent of Mails at Louisville, praying that Postmaster General Gary and Assistant Postmaster General Heath be enjoined from removing him from office.

The case has been considered in the nature of a test of the power of removal, and the delivery of the opinion drew to the courtroom many public officials, including members of the Civil Service Commission.

Judge Cox's decision was an elaborate review of the law bearing on removals of Federal employees. He held at the outset that it was not within the power of a Court of equity to grant relief in matters of appointment and removal from office.

Then, taking up the merits of the case, he stated that it was settled law that the power of removal was an incident to the power of appointment, and that both could be exercised by the head of a Department in reference to subordinate officials. Concerning the Civil Service Law, Judge Cox held that it must not be construed to grant authority, either to the Civil Service Commission or to the President, to make rules contrary to the law itself, or of a legislative character. He quoted with approval the decision of Justice Brewer that Congress could not delegate its power to legislate to any administrative body. The decision sums up as follows:

"The simple inquiry is whether the rules imposed by the complainant, whether the President or the Commission or both the authors of them, are such as the Civil Service Act authorized to be established. In my judgment they are ultra vires and void. I have no doubt that the President may lay down rules for the internal policy of his Administration, and may require his chief executive officers, dependent upon his pleasure, for their terms of office, to conform to them or else to sever their official relations with him, and in that sense the rules relied on by the complainant were within his political and executive authority. But the enforcement of such rules is a matter between the President and the Cabinet, and not a matter for the Courts or one in which the complainant has any legal interest. All that I mean to state in this opinion is that the rules in question were not such as the Civil Service Act authorized and do not derive efficacy from that act."

"I know of nothing more important to the interests of the country than the policy which the Civil Service legislation was intended to initiate and promote, and it is perhaps a matter of great regret that the act of January 16th, 1883—the Civil Service Act—has not gone further than it does. But it is my duty to construe it as it is."

"To sum up, I conclude that apart from the Civil Service Act the Postmaster General had the authority to remove the complainant from office at his pleasure; that this act makes no change in this respect, except to forbid removals for refusal to contribute to partisan objects; that the power given to the Commission and the President to establish rules to carry that act into effect does not authorize any rule which shall make a change in the law in this respect, and consequently that, even if this Court had jurisdiction in a case like the present one, the complainant is not entitled to the relief prayed."

It is probable that an appeal will be taken from the decision and it is said that ultimately the United States Supreme Court will be asked to pass on the question involved.

A FARM-REACHING EFFECT.

The decision rendered by Judge Cox will have a most far-reaching effect, and it was one of the matters discussed at the Cabinet meeting.

Beyond doubt, it will require the promulgation of new rules and the opinion of lawyers and prominent officials and that

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Resolutions of the Board of Education on the Death of Mr. H. H. Collins.

The Board of Education has adopted the following tribute to the late H. H. Collins.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, in the dispensation of His providence, to remove by death from among us our esteemed fellow-member, Hiram H. Collins; therefore, be it Resolved by the Board, That in his death we have lost an efficient and faithful member, always alert and conscientious in the discharge of every duty as a member of this Board, looking to the best interests of the cause of education in this beloved city of his early adoption;

That this city and community have lost a most worthy and valued citizen and a man of highest integrity, the Church to which he belonged an exemplary member, and his family, to whom this Board offers its sincere sympathy, a loving and faithful husband and a kind and indulgent father;

That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Board, and that a copy be sent to the family, and that the press of the city be requested to publish them.

FIVE BURGLARS

Lynched by An Enraged Mob at Versailles, Ind.

They Were Taken From the Jail and Hanged From the Limb of a Tree.

Robberies and Burglaries Had Become Unendurable. The Gang Was Held by One of Its Two Members, and the Other Four Were Hanged From the Limb of a Tree.

VERSAILLES, Ind., Sept. 16.—Increased by the numerous depredations, and repeated burglaries and daylight robberies, the people of Ripley county, Ind., have taken to their own hands, and meted out to the perpetrators a punishment greater than provided by the law. Five men, who have long been a terror to the citizens of this county, met their death at the hands of an enraged populace and the citizens of Versailles, Ind., who, on the county seat, arose Wednesday, it was to find the bodies of five men dangling from as many limbs of an elm tree in the center of the public square.

Stout ropes, not over six feet in length, had served to send each to his destiny, and the feet were just a few inches from the ground, while their hands and feet had been securely pinned with stout ropes.

Versailles is a town of some eight hundred people. It is one of the oldest in the state, and although it is five miles from a railroad station and has no telegraphic communication with the outside world, as have more pretentious towns in the county, it is still the county seat. For four or five years, and even longer, the farmers of the county have been the victims of a lawless gang, who, apparently lacking in fear, have plied their vocation to the terror of the people, for they seemingly have no other means of earning a living. Farmers would come into town with a bunch of cattle or a load of farming products, and next morning they would find the roadside suffering from a loss and minus the proceeds of their sale. Old farmers have been slain, and both men and women have been subjected to all the tortures that a hardened mind could stand. Aged German heads of households have been driven from their homes and at was seditious that conviction followed.

During the past week robberies had increased alarmingly. On Sunday morning was received by the sheriff that the store of Woolley Bros. at Corbett, Ind., ten miles from here, was to be entered. The information was given by one of the gang's confederates who had been under suspicion. Sheriff J. H. Huchings arranged for a posse, and several deputies went to the place. Sheriff Huchings concealed himself in the cellar, and the posse gathered at a convenient distance outside.

Shortly after midnight the gang returned. Woolley Bros. had been notified by the sheriff and the sheriff's informant were designated to break into the building. Gordon himself effected an entrance, and just as he was about to pull the door open, the sheriff and his posse rushed in. The posse rushed in, and the sheriff and his posse rushed in. The posse rushed in, and the sheriff and his posse rushed in.

SEVEN CASES

Of Yellow Fever at Edwards, Miss., and Many Suspects.

The Cases First Reported as Malarial Then Dengue Fever.

Next They Were Pronounced Suspected, and at Last Declared Genuine Yellow Fever, the Headline the Disease Was Spreading Rapidly There.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 15.—All the fears of the citizens of Jackson in regard to the sickness prevalent at Edwards have been realized. Dr. Gutierrez, the government expert, has confirmed seven cases of yellow fever and there are many suspects.

First, the cases were reported as malarial fever, then after a time they became dengue fever. Another wait and they were pronounced suspected and finally declared to be genuine yellow fever. During all this time the disease had been spreading rapidly at the rate of five cases a day.

There have been now 40 cases in existence at Edwards. The evolution of the disease from malarial to yellow fever was such that the people now regard dengue as simply a more convenient term than yellow fever. Dr. Gutierrez arrived at Edwards on a special train at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning and proceeded at once to work. A telegram addressed to Dr. Gutierrez asking for information on the situation at Edwards elicited the reply that he had been unable to visit the place until the day after yesterday. Dr. Purnell, who has been at Edwards for several days, wired the persons under the police guard to the local health officer.

Dr. Gutierrez arrived Wednesday morning. We have visited a number of cases, and the following are pronounced genuine yellow fever: W. A. Johnson, Dr. Montgomery, Mrs. Anna Henry, T. H. W. Barrett, E. F. Nuttle, Mamie Austin (three miles out of town), and a woman at the camp (at Champion Hill).

At 10 a. m. the following report was made by Dr. Gutierrez: EDWARDS, Miss., Sept. 15, 1917. To Wynnan, Washington.—The diagnosis of yellow fever made in six cases by Dr. Purnell confirmed. There are two cases that I have not yet seen. There are many children sick with what is probably a malarial fever. The disease. The cases are not confined to one locality but are all traceable to the Anderson cases which came from Ocean Springs. The medium of distribution appears to have been the Champion case. Mr. Champion, who died, was a prominent man and many people who are gathered in the house during the illness. Dr. Purnell is immune and I recommend him as competent to take charge of the situation if necessary. I shall leave this afternoon for Mobile unless otherwise directed.

Dr. Gutierrez, representative of the return of Emperor William of Germany from Russia he has expected to visit the United States. The return of the emperor, and will probably cross from Kiel to Aberdeen in the imperial yacht Hohenzollern for the purpose of making a strictly private visit to her majesty at Balmoral castle.
